Identifying Non-Designated Heritage Assets in Neighbourhood Plans

Introduction

1. The parish has a long history with evidence being unearthed of burials dating back to the late Neolithic or early Bronze Age (c 2500 to 2000BC). Most of the historical buildings in the village date from the 17th, 18th, and early 19th centuries, reflecting a long period of prosperity based on sheep and corn farming and improved agricultural methods. A Conservation Area exists within the village centre, where all but one listed building is located, see Figure 1. The Church of St Andrew, located on the High Street is Grade II* listed. This dates from the 14th and 15th century, but in 1864 the tower was partly rebuilt, aisle added and the interior much restored.

2. The special quality of Ringstead Conservation Area, while greatly enhanced by its listed buildings owes as much to the large number of important unlisted buildings within its boundaries. These are traditional buildings which, by their position, their group value in relation to other buildings close by and their use of local materials, contribute to the character of the village. Sixty such buildings have been identified, representing 76% of the total number of unlisted buildings in the Conservation Area. Important walls, linking buildings and enclosing spaces, have also been identified in the Ringstead Conservation Area Character Statement, March 1990, revised March 2009. Most of the buildings noted below in the assessment were identified as important unlisted buildings; which the neighbourhood planning group wished to explore further for the protection as non-designated heritage assets.

3. Non-designated heritage assets are buildings, monuments, sites, places, areas or landscapes identified as having a degree of significance meriting consideration in planning decisions but which are not formally designated. They are valued as distinctive elements of the local historic environment. Historic England provide guidance on the listing of local heritage assets to assist community groups, for example in preparing a Neighbourhood Plan. Local lists complement national designations and intends to highlight heritage assets which are of local interest, to ensure they are given due consideration when change is being proposed.
4. Ringstead Neighbourhood Plan has adopted the following process for considering assets of historical importance which could be included on a local list:
 - Review of designated assets and data held on the Historic Environment Record;
 - Identification of assets of local importance through consultation and data held on the Historic Environment Record;
 - Assessment according to Historic England criteria¹, below;
 - Further consultation with residents.

Criterion	Description
Asset type	Although local heritage lists have long been developed successfully for buildings, all heritage asset types, including monuments, sites, places, areas, parks, gardens, and designed landscapes may be considered for inclusion.
Age	The age of an asset may be an important criterion, and the age range can be adjusted to take into account distinctive local characteristics or building traditions.

Identifying Non-Designated Heritage Assets in Neighbourhood Plans

Rarity	Appropriate for all assets, as judged against local characteristics.
Architectural and Artistic Interest	The intrinsic design and aesthetic value of an asset relating to local and/or national styles, materials, construction and craft techniques, or any other distinctive characteristics.
Group Value	Groupings of assets with a clear visual design or historic relationship.
Archaeological Interest	The local heritage asset may provide evidence about past human activity in the locality, which may be in the form of buried remains, but may also be revealed in the structure of buildings or in a designed landscape, for instance. Heritage assets with archaeological interest are primary sources of evidence about the substance and evolution of places, and of the people and cultures that made them.
Historic Interest	A significant historical association of local or national note, including links to important local figures, may enhance the significance of a heritage asset. Blue Plaque and similar schemes may be relevant. Social and communal interest may be regarded as a sub-set of historic interest but has special value in local listing. As noted in the PPG: 'Heritage assets ... can also provide meaning for communities derived from their collective experience of a place and can symbolise wider values such as faith and cultural identity'. It therefore relates to places perceived as a source of local identity, distinctiveness, social interaction, and coherence, contributing to the 'collective memory' of a place.
Landmark Status	An asset with strong communal or historical associations, or because it has especially striking aesthetic value, may be singled out as a landmark within the local scene.

Notes in relation to the assessment criteria (where a judgement has been made that the criteria has been met)

NDHA1- Top End Farmhouse

Description	Chalk-built 'lobby entrance' farmhouse. Farm now consists only of barn and house. Barn of clunch, carrstone and brick, integral cart porch, and remains of cattle outshuts. Date plaque illegible but probably dates from 1690s when it appears on a map of that date much rebuilt on more than one occasion – roof recent.
Age	Seventeenth century
Rarity	It is a more modest building than other farmhouses in the village
Architectural and Artistic Interest	It provides a terminus for the High Street. It's an important feature on the northern skyline of the village.
Group Value	It forms an important group of vernacular buildings along with the cottages on the opposite side of the road and marks the northern-most settlement of the historic village.
Archaeological interest	None
Historic Interest (including archival)	Historical connections to rural farming in the locality of Ringstead. This would hold community value to the residents and its outbuildings form an associated group north of the Ringstead conservation area.

Age	The cottages date from the eighteenth or nineteenth centuries and were extensively rebuilt and extended c 2010.
Rarity	N/A
Architectural and Artistic Interest	Together with the Farmhouse and outbuildings they constitute the historic northern point of the village, at the junction with the Hunstanton road and close to the Ringstead entrance to Hunstanton Park.
Group Value	These Carstone, brick and chalk-built cottages are an important group of buildings in the village landscape, despite the recent major rebuilding and extensions to the cottages to form two units out of the previous three units.
Archaeological interest	None
Historic Interest (including archival interest, social and community value)	None
Landmark Status	N/A

NDHA3- Geddings Farm and Surrounds

Identifying Non-Designated Heritage Assets in Neighbourhood Plans

Picture of the large barn at Gedding's Farm dated 1630 within Susanna W Martins (1991) *Historic Farm Buildings Book*⁴.

Description	The farmhouse itself is a Grade II listed building appearing on a 1690s map, the barns now converted to houses are dated 1630. These stable and sheds probably date from the 18 th C ⁵ .
Age	1630-1900AD
Rarity
Architectural and Artistic Interest	These comprise a barn with reset datestone 1630; barn itself is later, of clunch, conglomerate and brick with 15-bay roof still later. Two sets of mid-19 th century cattle yards of clunch and carrstone with dragon beams. Other buildings of similar construction, plus a granary of 1924.
Group Value	None
Archaeological interest	None known
Historic Interest (including archival interest, social and community value)	This complexes of buildings, along with those at East End Farm, Sedgeford Road Farm and Hall Harm, as well as farms in Old Hunstanton witness to the prosperity of agriculture, initially based on sheep in the 17 th C and then on livestock

Identifying Non-Designated Heritage Assets in Neighbourhood Plans

Description	A gothic-style former school, built of coursed carstone rubble blocks, with modifications c1990. A school room was built in 1852 and a second room in 1875. Since closure the building has been converted into a house. This dwelling has been identified as important non listed buildings in the BCKLWN Conservation Area Character Statement⁷. It sits within the heart of Ringstead Conservation Area.
Age	1852AD- 1990s AD ⁸
Rarity	Represents a high-quality design of the only former school in Ringstead village.
Architectural and Artistic Interest	It is an attractive set of buildings, forming a group with the church and nearby cottages
Group Value	A traditional building which, due to its position, its group value in relation to other buildings close by and the use of local materials, contribute to the character of the village and have been picked as important unlisted buildings in the Ringstead Conservation Statement.
Archaeological interest	None
Historic Interest (including archival interest, social and community value)	It illustrates the growth in population in the village in the second half of the nineteenth century. It holds a historical significance since many ancestors or Ringstead residents would have gone to school here.

NDHA5- Village store, 41 High St Ringstead

Heritage Asset & brief description	There has been a shop on this site for at least 150 years. It is of two storeys built of local Carstone blocks with a double-fronted Victorian shop front on the ground floor, with 1960s shop windows inserted on either side, that on the left inserted in a former arched vehicle access. There are three casement windows at first floor level. This site has been identified as an important unlisted building in the BCKLWN Conservation Area Character Statement⁹.
Age	C 150 years
Rarity	The degree of rarity is slim regarding the building, design, and settlement pattern itself, since it is not in itself uncommon locally.
Architectural or Artistic Interest
Group Value	It provides an attractive end point to a row of probably earlier cottages. It is a traditional building which, by their position, their group value in relation to other buildings close by and their use of local materials, contribute to the character of the village and have been picked as important unlisted buildings in the Ringstead Conservation Statement.

NDHA9- Wards Nursery buildings, Foundry Lane

Description	A range of greenhouses which sit to the north of Foundry Lane. The nursery buildings have been identified as important unlisted buildings in the BCKLWN Conservation Area Character Statement ¹² .
Age	The site was first developed as a nursery in 1951, and following various additions received a new brick-built façade to the lane c 2000.
Rarity	In terms of locally the buildings are uncommon for Ringstead being the only nursery in the village. The low modern buildings of Wards Nurseries are uniquely characteristic with their design and roof materials on Foundry Lane in comparison to adjacent buildings to the east of the site which are semi-detached pre-war houses.
Architectural and Artistic Interest	Low
Group Value	An example of a modest rural commercial development. Due to its position, their group value in relation to other buildings close by and their use of local materials, contribute to the

Description

The Ringstead Foundry's house is a Victorian carstone-built detached house, built by the le Strange Estate in 1876 and extended in the 1950s and '60s.

Falls within the Ringstead Conservation Area.

Identifying Non-Designated Heritage Assets in Neighbourhood Plans

Age	(Date stone 1878)
Rarity	The rarity of the building is low in comparison to the design and settlement pattern locally since materials are like other buildings including carstone and pantiles.
Architectural and Artistic Interest	Limited
Group Value	It marks the site of the former Foundry, a thriving agricultural business in the later nineteenth and early and mid-twentieth centuries.
Archaeological interest	None
Historic Interest (including archival interest, social and community value)	This asset holds historical value as a former rural industry and significant employer in Ringstead in the later 19 th and first half of the 20 th centuries. The Local foundry is known from 1824 and was marked as Smithy in the 1824 1st edition O.S Map ¹⁴ .
Landmark Status	It occupies a prominent position in the valley on the slopes of which the village's settlements are mostly built
